PROJECT Quinnox - CTC Project

ABSTRACT

CTC is a product of Quinnox Consultancy, designed for automation testing. This product makes the testing team's life easy as it is not only a desktop application but it can be used on Mobile phones and can also be used from cloud too. I had the opportunity to design UX and UI of this project from scratch.

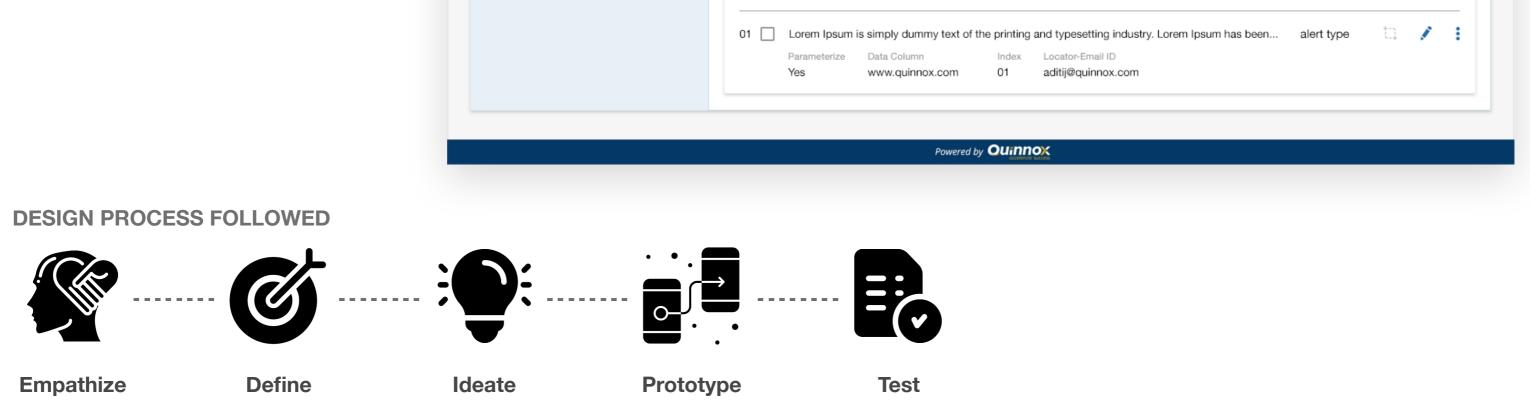

APPROACH

Following design thinking process in every way possible and trying out different methods was mandatory to come to a conclusion or to find new ways to achieve the required. It was very necessary for the project to be user centric and just not business centric.
